Run: 1391
Hare: Bell Boy

Date: 29 September 2017
Venue: Como

THE RUN

I won't mention that it was a cold night, again, we all know there is somewhere light at the end of the tunnel, but how long is it?

The Hare Bell Boy chose a rather dark venue, no lights for the circle and proceedings, but with the help of a local dog owner our clever GM found the switch to light things up for us.

Bell Boy was called upon to give instructions: we are on chalk, powder and dunny paper.

My group of walkers found all three, but soon lost trail after leaving a park through a small gate.

Light My Fire did her best to find trail, but was unsuccessful. Da Liva Rants had more luck and found the crucial sign, but at this stage it was decided to head straight back home with the help of Meladjusted's GPS. A nice walk, though the runners did a much bigger circle and arrived from all different directions.

THE CIRCLE

As grub was ready and warmish, Bell Boy with the help of Wisecrack, served up a very tasty Spaghetti Bolognese, before we were ordered to form a circle.

GM promised it to be quick one as he was shivering in his shorts.

Small Goods reported for the walkers: lost trail but found another.

Sprinkler for the runners: it was just the right length for her.
9.5 was the decided score.
