THE RUN

A full moon greeted us at Troppo's run site at Heathridge Park, the cool westerly breeze wanted us to keep the jackets on, although it turned into a pleasant evening. The breeze settled and we were let through the streets, parks and back alleys of Heathridge; interested neighbours, attracted by our usual noise, offering water to the walkers.

Before the run Troppo made a point how our farrows looked like, and there were plenty of them which brought us back home within the hour.

THE CIRCLE

The GM called for the circle (his third last time he exclaimed)

No run report as the Hare was absent, turning into pizza delivery boy.
