Run: 1455 Date: 4th January 2019

Hare: Franger and Deliverants

VENUE: Woodman Point, Coogee

THE CIRCLE: A rugged up circle of 35 gathered on a cold night under a carpark light, after a run through the sands of Woodman Point Regional Park. In the absence of Dcell the GM asked Spackle to step in as Song Master for the night, although he wasn't as talented and barely passed the task, we were grateful for his efforts

THE RUN: Phantom thought the run was very good and she thoroughly enjoyed it, and she was delighted to work off some of the Christmas cheer scoring it a 9.8

Shadow thought the walk was excellent and mentioned that it was very well marked. She thought the scenery was amazing and very beautiful, scoring the run 9.9

Franger mentioned a special thank you to Deliverance for helping with the food, which consisted of chicken and a wonderful, and very delicious, array of salads.

Visitors and LTNS: None this week

CHARGES: The GM was stumped, just like the Australian cricket team, and was out for a golden duck as he had no charges to start off with. The RA came to the rescue, starting off with a few ZERO HEROES: Big Bang 70 runs, Spakle 160 runs, Shifty 220 runs, and Puki Merah 310 runs. With the accolades out of the way the RA proceeded to call forth Troppo, who was in some trouble, his charge was for short cutting home. Troppo claimed he was merely checking out a root, others hinted at an alternate root..... not too sure what they were hinting at, is Troppo's sexual preference more open than we first thought? The GM decided this was more of a joke than a charge and sent Troppo out of the circle to later join the jokers for a down down.

Next the RA charged Wisecrack for using her phone on the run, Franger was charged for getting his Farrows mixed up and putting one back to front.

By this stage the GM had time to think and come up with a charge on RTT, for being the only one sending emails asking for where the run was. RTT, with the help of Sybil, explained that it was the fault of 15MeNuts for the confusion as she didn't copy correctly the details Sybil had sent to her. In the end it was all settled and forgotten about over a down down.

Tightarse charged GPS for being dyslexic and being a GSP. Wisecrack also charged GPS, this time for stopping unnecessarily at train tracks which were out of commission. Deliverants charged Big Bang for new shoes.

GENERAL BUSINESS: Radar thanked all the salad makers from the Christmas run, and all the desert makers.

The GM modelled a long sleeve top idea for Friday Hash, we had an initial show of around 15 hashers for the idea to be investigated.

Bigus Dickus and Hawkeye bid us farewell tonight as they were returning home, Bigus Dickus will be returning in a couple of weeks however, and unfortunately, without Hawkeye

15MeNuts was presented with her badges for 100 runs.

BIRTHDAYS: GPS

DUMMY SHORTS: Nominees this week were Sadar, who was wiped from the list as he had already left, Wisecrack for dying to see the crematorium, Megawatt for just following like a sheep, and Mountain Hawk was charged with following non-hashers. Troppo for not knowing is East from his West, and Hogshit for mixing up his lefts and rights when calling.

The winner was Wisecrack.

The GM felt it necessary to charge Spackles for his choice of song, would you sit on my face, as he felt it was unnecessary to sing about his sex life

JOKERS: Deliverance: Two statues who were granted two wishes, Shadow: Irish husband who's about to die grants wife three wishes, and Radar: Amish girl who had a unique way of warming cold things up
