Run: 1468 Date: 3rd April Hare: Ballwrinkle VENUE: Anthony Waring Park, Clarkson

THE CIRCLE: This week 40 hashers turned up ready to experience the magic of Cinderella and Prince Ballwrinkle, who brought along his own Magic Pumpkin Coach, in our case Pumpkin Pie.

The walkers were kept separate on this run to the runners up to the drink stop, allowing the runners to beat the walkers to the drink stop.

The runners having been set free from the rest of the pack seemed keen to impress Prince Ballwrinkle and set forth setting a keen pace. Although the runners were spread out in a long thin line, they remained in each other's sights, this assisted them in setting a pace that impressed both the Prince and Princesses. While blazing through Clarkson the runners set forth marking out the Prince's crest for all the other suiters after the Princesses hand to see.

The walkers on their own quest, spread the good word of the Prince for all to hear as they made their own way through the winding hills which, along with the runners, lead them to a secret camp where Prince welcomed his charges and thanked them with a refreshing drink. From the drink stop it was a victorious meander home to see the Princess and Prince rejoice with their charges, sharing good food, drink, and laughter.

At the gathering the GM took command of the gathered crowd, and summoned forth Megawatt, who seemed impressed, or maybe surprised, and the speed of the run. He enjoyed the gentle terrain, and scenery scoring the trail 9.8. Hard One was summoned forth to speak for the walkers, she thought the quest set forth by Prince Ballwrinkle was very good, although a bit hilly, the trail was well marked, and although having come from a neighbouring village had not realised how many parks were hidden amongst the houses. Scoring the trail 9.5

Visitors and LTNS: With word having been sent out to the other regions far and wide of Prince Ballwrinkle's quest, Knight Escort Required from Copenhagen set forth. Covering over 16,000km he reached his destination of Clarkson, where he was welcomed on the quest to guard the walkers and having succeeded in his duties he was rewarded with Splash.

A few Long Time No Sees were also welcomed to the occasion including Maide Muffin, Ten Per Cent, Hard One, and Sukka.

CHARGES: The stand in RA called forth Megawatt, as a fellow retired RA Megawatt took the charge for Replicar, who despite asking several times over a month prior, for having forgotten the stand in RA's name. Next the walking wounded Light My Fire, Sukka, Shifty, and Slugger were called forth to be recognised for their courage to keep going.

The RA then charged Tightarse for becoming one eyed, someone from the circle questioned if this was due to him supporting Collingwood, but no it was due to a cataract operation this week.

The RA next charged Hash Cash for failing to declare the budget was in surplus, and for failing to promise how much money they would pass onto the walking wounded.

Shifty was charged by the RA for sneaking off into the shadows and having a little discreet shifty, a pee. With the Prince taking a brief leave of absence to check on the kitchen, one of his charges Big Bang was called forth by the RA to stand in for the Prince to accept a drink in sympathy for the Prince's suffering as he was having a terrible time in Australia where he could not get tinned pumpkin for his Pumpkin Pie

The RA knighted Wacuda, in recognition of his heroism in finding and bringing Tightarse bag

The GM took over from the RA and charged D Cell and Horny Flasher for being on TV and failing to spread the word of HASH. Bell Boy and Sir Fumbles were called forth and charged for new shoes. Troppo was charged for racing Sybill, and in the process pulling a calf muscle.

GENERAL BUSINESS: The GM modelled some lost property from last week's run, although Cookie and Little Prick were keen to claim the glasses, Cookie was the rightful owner.

BIRTHDAYS: This week we celebrated two, one past with Shifty and one in the future D Cell.

DUMMY SHORTS: This week there was a rowdy scene to the dummy shorts nominations, the current owner Sadar summoned forth his nominations: Hogshit – for spitting the dummy and claiming Sadar wasn't really wearing the shorts. Big Bang – for not calling ON on the trail. Sadar – for not technically wearing the shorts, the GM ruled he was. Cookie – for spitting the dummy over the crowds' dispute of her explanation of wearing the shorts. The winner by elimination was Big Bang

JOKERS: Cookie – father explaining to his son why there was a certain number of condoms in a box.
Little Prick – what do you call an Italian with a Rubber toe
GM – son from Cookie's joke grows up as a salesman
Big Bang – a new born baby with a screw instead of a belly button
