Run: 1551

Date: 5th March 2021

Hare: Whoreda

Venue: Beasley Park, Leeming

Our esteemed RA went missing tonight, must be still fixing the pulpit, so it was the stand in RA Meladjusted that got the accolade from Replicar in the circle for ensuring that the rain only fell on the north side of Karel Avenue in Leeming, we 32 hearty hashers stayed dry on the south side and enjoyed the lovely trail set by Whoreda and Doggy Doo.

As we drew near the drink stop some hashers kind of went to the dogs, greyhounds to be more specific, and there was gambling on the run, bets were being placed as to what scintillating beverage was going to be on offer, Shifty was in the mood for bubbles, there was talk of Baileys as Whoreda had raided Doggydoo's drink cupboard and warmed a few cockles on arrival to the run, but I think it was Suka who hit the jackpot and predicted Port and Leemingade.

Doggydoo having survived the awesome trauma of busting some local drug dealers while waiting for the hashers to rock up at the drink stop, he saw what was going on and went over to them and read them their rights, such bravery!, hang on no wasn't that Doggy hiding behind his van with trembling knees, never mind he had brave thoughts.

The circle was called and Sardar and ButterED Buns concurred that the runners and walkers runs were fabulous, the Hares had marked it well, kept the troops together, and walkers even had the opportunity to get to a few falsies as the runners were lagging.

Chameleon came to visit us again and Shifty returned to the fold as well as Suka who showed the GM two fingers, was wondering what the GM had said, but no it was just 2 weeks since she last came, BJ must be slipping.

Meladjusted was happy to be the stand in RA, as he has decided to be Sleeping Beast and go to sleep all Wednesday on the operation table and will be absent from our midst for many a week, everyone wishes him well.

Beau and D Cell were called in for having sex outside the circle, they were seen snapping shots of each other under the bridge of colours that sun and rain joined to form, then, they went into the bushes together. It's this new geosexing thing they are into.

ButterED Buns was charged for racing, she almost beat all the runners into the drink stop.

On Sec is making sure she doesn't get ButterED Buns name wrong again as Hogshit called her up for being dyslexic, GM probably wishes he didn't say anything when he told everyone that he spelt it right last year in his rags, gosh it's a wonder Smart Alex On Sec didn't get a second down down.

What did Cookie do before she joined Hash, she must have started straight out of high school, as she stepped forward to celebrate her 1150 runs, Sir Fumbles joining her with an important number as well, one of those ones that end in a 69er. Radar and Wenchy also need to get a life they were on 390 and 650 respectively.

No Birthdays but D Cell celebrated birthing on this day many years ago

GM gave an accolade to our new Hash Flash Sir Fumbles, who was happy to share his flashing skills, and also an accolade to the work done by our Haberdash, D Cell.

General Business:

- Haberdash reminded everyone to get their orders in for new has gear before next week, the form is attached with the Rag
- There was some important business on the drinks table as well, Troppo discovered a turd next to the drinks
- Trailmistress still looking for a hare for the 19th March

On Sec had to think quick when ButterED Buns corrected her true story about Crows found dead in Perth, the crows are in Adelaide duh. Dead Squid shared his joke about a Kiwi, an Aussie and an Englishman.

And then came time to hand over the dummy longs, Made Muffin nominated Horny Flasher for parking next to her and confusing cars, Made Muffin assured us she was using her keys this week and not her torch.

On Sec nominated Whoreda who telephoned her this week about hash and thought she was talking to On Sec's namesake Cookie, only discovering her error two days later. Whoreda is heading off for several weeks and suggested they wouldn't see the shorts for a while if she had them, so Shadow who'd been very quiet all night nominated GPS for scratching his balls to get into the shorts, now we know why Shadow was so quiet, she was busy looking at the male hasher's balls, so Cookie rightly so nominated her for the shorts. Some of those hashers who offered their balls up for scratching are lucky they weren't on the voting list as well!

Unanimous shouts went to Shadow, GPS is going to lose his voice if he keeps getting nominated as he has to shout really loud for himself.

Cowpat lead us into the Friday song, and we went on to enjoy a lovely meal of soup.

On Sec would like to thank Cookie who is standing in for her for the month of March.
