Run: 1557

Date: 23rd April 2021

Hare: Blowfly and Cowpat

Venue: Padbury

Our mate Marky decided he'd keep us safe again announcing a 3 day lock down several hours before we were due to meet, as the full lock down was not due to happen until midnight GM consulted with the Hares and a decision was made to continue with the run, let's face it if the Wildcats and Western Force could have a full capacity hall/arena then our small gathering of delinquent hashers was not going to have a huge impact on society, and the 22 hashers that ventured out adhered to the distancing and masks and lucky Beau wasn't there cos there were no hugs, he would have struggled. And we totally respect those that gave their apologies and chose not to come, that was so polite, so unFH3-like, I might have to add apologies to the evenings agenda in future for the circle, maybe even bringing a note from your Mother might be obligatory ☺.

With some true ANZAC spirit the hare had us scrambling through tunnels, over hills, running the gauntlet in face of the enemy, the traffic of Padbury. The troop all made it back to safety, and were rewarded with weiners and moth flavoured dips.

We had the real GM back this week and he called the circle and started the evening off with the walk and run analysis. Phantom spoke on behalf of all 3 runners, I think 4 might have started, she enjoyed the run especially Blowfly's cute arrows, and checks that kept the pack (can 3 be considered a pack) together. Suka also loved those baby arrows but was concerned about Blowfly leaving baby arrows out on their own at night.

Radar came to the rescue and agreed to be stand in RA for the night, wasn't an easy task as everyone was on such good behaviour.

But first charge went to Suka, she said how she loved the run, but stand in RA was walking with her and Suka over inflated her report for the Hares, that wasn't what she was saying out on the walk. Stand in RA then called our visitors and LTNS in-Leather Lungs, Dynamo, Hardcase, GM, Smallgoods, Whoreda, DoggyDoo

Then it was back to charges-Blowfly was charged for his cute arrows as they weren't official farrows and sometimes the direction of these cute little things was not true blue. The troops wavered at times.

Blowfly barely had time to get back to the outer circle when GM called him in again and charged him with unnecessary conservation work, feeding the local cockroaches with flour. Shadow charged Hogshit for dipping his stick in the dip aka Chilli sauce a la Moth.

On Sec has total respect for freedom of choice, but still felt three hashers declining to be stand in RA deserved a down down, even though their excuses of been unable to multi skill are very founded, down down for Sir Fumbles, Hogshit and DoggyDoo.

Meladjusted then called Whoreda in for an accolade, she had amazed stand in RA on the run at the speed she answered nature on the walk. Speedy Peezales!

GM's accolades this week went to Shadow for assisting him to arrange the soujourn while he was away, it was very much appreciated. And a second accolade to Blowfly and Cowpat who stood in for Ballwrinkle this evening and offered to do his run.

Whoreda was prompted to get a life as she celebrated 100 runs, and Cowpat celebrated her birthday with her fellow hashers.

General Business:

- Our Trailmistress thanked everyone for filling May, she asked for the same dedicated response for June; Suka is heading off into the blue yonder for several weeks and has Highbeam standing in for her
- On Sec asked FH3 to be mindful of our fellow hashers, Wisecrack and Mouth Organ, they would love to attend hash but their immune systems have been affected by their treatments and need people to respect that hugs are not good for them or their spouses.
- However, On Sec had word from Beau that he was happy to accept any of the hugs on their behalf, and if you find him too hairy, I'll pluck my chin hairs and I'll take a hug or two for the team.
- On Sec made the mistake of calling Spackles "Steve", which inspired Hogshit to share that there are too many Steve's in this world, WiseCrack being guilty in the past of texting Hogshit when she had mowed the lawns.

Cookie was our jovial joker.

Hopping Mad was hopping mad that she couldn't attend with the dummy shorts due to work demands, so it's carry over again for her. Yes she too phoned in her apologies.

Meladjusted warmed his vocal chords up, hats and masks taken off for the FH3 song, and the hashers sat down to a lovely pasta and salad dinner followed by delicious cake. Thank you Cowpat and Blowfly and safe travels.
