Run: 1585

Date: 19th November 2021

Hare: Wisecrack

Venue: Bullcreek

What a glorious summers evening it was, 34 hashers congegrating at Bullcreek to strut their stuff. Stand in RA, GPS, excelling himself by also producing a rare blood red moon for the occasion, however, his antipodean mates across the ditch sucked all the blood out of it before it appeared on our horizon leaving us with just a bloody nice full moon.

There was a bit of inside trading happening on the run, several of the FH3'ers having completed the same run with the FH6'ers on Wednesday, but this added to the fun, and our hearty group filled the streets of Bullcreek with a stream of constant chatter. There were farrows leading to the drink stop but once this group gets a wiff of that alcohol they find the straightest route across the park.

It was rather easy to form a circle inside a circle, the rondavel was just the perfect size for this group. GM stood up to lead his last circle before he hands over the reins next week at the AGPU. Wisecrack and co-hare Spackles came into the circle. Cowpat was called on to give a runners report, but hang on Cowpat had to finish her secret hash chat with Inspector Gadget first; is it OK to talk in the circle if you are having a hash chat? Suka remember that next time you get caught☺ Cowpat enlightened us by telling us it was a run. And a pleasant one with big arrows, this group is always fixated on big ones! Cookie has waited a long time, but she finally came out tonight. She came out to the middle of the circle and reported that the walk was a very good walk, where we walked, then we walked some more, and then we walked some more.....

GM acknowledged our LTNS travellers, Meladjusted, Radar and Miznomer.

Then up stepped our esteemed stand in RA, and started off by telling our zero heroes, Repicar and Meladjusted, to get a life.

Then it was into the charges, Miznomer first up to face the music, RA claims to not be overly talented but one talent he has is lip reading, come on you Hammersley guys don't even start with your silly jokes here. RA distinctly read Miznomer's lips saying 'OFFS' when GM called her up in the circle. Sorry if you are not up with the latest tech savvy terms, but it does help telling a story when you don't want to write naughty four letter words. Wisecrack was next up for her verbal abuse on the RA, telling him he looks like the grim reaper, did I hear mutters of agreeance coming from the circle? There was also a comment about a "cock in a frock" but GPS wouldn't upset Thelma by posing as a rooster. Meladjusted charged Suka, dickie knee's cousin, for not introducing her visitor, she was heard talking to 'Johanna', then he went on to give Wisecrack an accolade for entertaining the troops in the circle with a strip act, lucky Wenchy wasn't there otherwise she might have had to share the stage with her.

Next was Whoreda charging Cookie for calling out to Mel, but hang on she got an answer from Meladjusted so she almost got away with that one, this resulted in a double DD. Then Cookie was in the wars again, Rockbottom charging her with not sharing her portaloo, I much prefer to go on my own myself, not a lot of room in those things. Talking about taking ones pants off, Replicar confused the pants off everyone for charging Suka for parading her old car as a new car. RA closed the charges with a final one on Inspector Gadget who came with his top off.

Tops off, pants off it was all happening tonight, then up steps Dead Squid with White Pointers top and pants from last week OMG, thank goodness I was in Adelaide. Then Dead Squid did what he does well, yes another Dead Squid yarn about having 12 sisters and having to wear their hand me downs, he had On Sec upset later on when she asked him how much longer she had to put up with him, and he started off on yet another yarn about having decided to now live in Perth with his wife, but it's alright folks, yep he was again doing what he does well.....bullshitting ☺

Then it was hat's off to our piss pourer assistant, High Beam, who's done a sterling job all year passing the piss.

Wisecrack shared her birthday with Meg Ryan, Beau absolutely devastated that Meg couldn't make it tonight.

General Business

- AGPU next week, On Sec will attempt to save and attach the map of where to park, but failing that park in Beatrice Street, Doubleview. Bring your own drinking cup and GM suggests to bring a dish as well to score any leftovers.
- On Sec left part of her brain in Adelaide, she forgot to mention that she needs some offers to make salads and desserts for the Xmas run 17th December, I'll collect these offers next week, or give me a call 0423729704

And the troops were entertained again with some stand up comedy from Inspector Gadget, Cookie and Meladjusted.

Cowpat stepped forth in the dummy shorts and nominated White Pointer for leaving his pants behind, GPS for cumming in costume and Beau for several descretions, Beau won pants down.

D Cell launched us into the Friday song and GM took the rest of the night to DD his final GM drink.
