Run: 1623

Hare: White Pointer

Date: 26th August 2022

Venue: Subiaco

Can you believe it, the RA has not only laid the nights run, but he has again made it yet another rain free evening on the last Friday of winter. Unfriggin believable. Is anyone keeping track as to any many Fridays in a row White Pointer has managed to achieve this? A grand total of 31 Hashers turned out to join him in downtown Subi. Though there was a little confusion at the beginning before the run started as no one was quite sure as to where exactly he was planning to start to run from within the park. It's not like he has a car that we could aim for and park next to. The early arrivals (Beau and Gadget) had to search him out and then reform and repark our cars in amongst other non-hash cars. This then formed the basis for the gathering and starting point. And then Beau got out a bag full of woolly hats that he was trying to sell (push). There was a park table with covered roof next to some park lighting that was the basis for our gathering and Gadget put out the Big Red Book that most, but not all, bother to fill in. Then we realised that Hash Cash (Radar) had parked further up the road and set up the cash table behind a bush as if in hiding. We soon got everyone together and the weeks stand-in GM (Troppo once more, I think that he's starting to enjoy it...) gathered everyone around to hear the hare's run directions. The little hand was on the seven and the big hand had just gone past the twelve as everyone set off with the understanding that there were two runs with a Drink Stop and a quizzical special marking with RH in the middle of a square that everyone was asked to keep a look out for.

Three Hashers stayed back at the run site with Mental Disorder keeping his visitor from Thailand, George company (along with Mini Disorder) and Gadget, still claiming disability with plantar fasciitis (try saying that quickly when you're not pissed). Then three short cutters came back to the run site early claiming poor trail markings (Slugger, Hardcase and one other whose name will come to me after I finish this rag...). Then about 20 minutes later the rest of the pack started to get back to make a B line to the nibbles table. Then the beer coolers started to get carried across to get things back to normal. Beau was still pushing his woolly hats and he'd made one sale to White Pointer and I swear that it was a perfect fit and actually made him look better with a fake tuft of hair seemingly sticking out of the top making him look like something out of the Muppets. But that's not being fair to the Muppets...

Troppo must've been on a promise as he was eager to get the Circle started. First in was Megawatt to tell us his thoughts on the long run. Comments included the words lengthy; poor markings; claimed that the hare didn't 'speak' Friday as his markings were a little strange. Despite all that he still awarded the run with a score of 9.825 (surely a nice round nine would suffice?). Next in was Ballwrinkle to tell us about the Walkers Run. He simply said that he enjoyed following the hare giving a score of 9.725. Though not part of the run discussion, Troppo said that he liked the M&M's at the Drink Stop. On in White Pointer and the scorers for a DD.

Visitors & LTNS – George was our only visitor brought in by Mental Disorder so he could show him what the Hash was all about. The LTNS were aplenty with Big Bang; Sybil; Megawatt; Ballwrinkle & Mouth Organ coming in for a Down Down. It was good to see you all.

With Bell Boy MIA, GPS stood in as the Piss Pourer ably assisted by Rowdy Rabbit ensuring that the evenings Down Downs didn't get missed. Troppo immediately handed the Circle over to the RA who also happened to also be the nights Hare with Cow Pat being called in for missing all the special train markings (huh?). Then Beau was a proxy for Buttered Buns, or was it the other way around? The Charges and Down Downs were flying fast and furious with Dynamo being accused of running on the Walk!! The Bag Lady was trying to muscle in and started to rip her Dummy Shorts off. The On Sec had to put a stop to her early striptease act as we were still in the middle of Charges. Then Sybil called in the Hare (White Pointer) for using funny arrows. I rather think that the word funny related to the word odd rather than humourous... It was at this point that the Hare asked if anyone found the special marking of RH in a square? Nope, no one spotted it and then the question was what did RH stand for? I was thinking maybe Robin Hood? But no, it had something to do with a certain Robert Hawk (not to be confused with Bob Hawk LOL). Then Big Bang explained who RH was and why he was being recognised. So he got a Down Down for being a know it all... Fair enough. That was the end of the charges.

Zero Hero's – We had Zero Hero's by the score. On in Dynamo & Hardcase (20 each); Rowdy Rabbit – 40; Light My Fire – 210; Cow Pat – 250; Megawatt – 470; Slugger – 560; Rock Bottom – 580. Congratulations to all.

Birthdays – Mouth Organ had had a birthday on Monday and had brought in some homemade cake to share with everyone. Belated Birthday greetings Mouth Organ.

The weeks Joker was White Pointer who told a convoluted joke about children and parents that sort of backfired and as Troppo had taken the week off from telling jokes, that was it for this week.

Dummy Shorts – Bag Lady. As earlier reported, she was super keen to get them off faster than a whore in Kalgoorlie. The nominees were GPS and White Pointer and you guessed it, the circle was unanimous in awarding the Dummy Shorts to White Pointer.

NEXT WEEKS Run 1624 2nd September Mental Disorder A. P. Hinds Res., Milne St., Bayswater

The circle was closed with the Hash Hymn led by Ballwrinkle (he claims he can do anything and on the night did indeed do everything – according to him... LOL)

The evenings meal was a plate of lasagne served with bread. Thank you White Pointer.
