Run: 1632

Hare: D Liva Rants

Date: 28th October 2022

Venue: Rivervale

The nights Hare was our very own GM, D Liva Rants. She had pulled out all the stops in hopes of avoiding a wet evening. She had requested help from our over east RA White Pointer, who had been doing a great job from afar. The usual early arrivals gathered at the assumed right place (myself included) and we were not too far out just down from the toilet block and rubbish bins (well they got used at the end of the night).

Our Hash Cash (Radar) recorded a total of 32 Hashers as being in attendance. Not bad for a very cool and potentially wet evening with lots of wind about and that was aside from what the odd Hashers or two was personally generating... Don't bend over just in case... The Hare called a circle and then sent the Runners off first holding the Walkers back for a few minutes so that the Runners didn't get to see which way the rest of us were being sent off to. Yes, there were two trails with the GM admitting that her son had been roped in to lay the Runners extended trail.

The GM cum Hare called the Circle to quickly get things under way before the expected evenings rains reached us. First in to give us her view on the Walkers Trail was Miz Nomer. She had a nice time but claimed that the Runners were not fast enough in remarking the trail to remove any falsies or check arounds. But she was happy to find a builder's toilet at the Drink Stop. Wisie was invited to comment on the Runners Run. She thought that it was an excellent run and even found the hill that D Liva Rants had spoken of at the start of run.

LTNS's this week saw Big Bang & Miz Nomer, plus Biggus Dickus & Hawkeye who were last seen some three years ago. Welcome back as always, we're happy to see you and please don't leave it so long between visits/runs. We had one visitor from The Hills Hash, an appropriately dressed Rubber Duckie in his best Halloween outfit complete with mask. Indeed, a number of hashers had dressed in their best Halloween costumes for the night.

As we continued the Circle, D Liva Rants admitted to having downed one or two too many Stones Ginger Wine drinks at her Drink Stop, but the good news was that she was in a good mood as she stood on her painted throne. Before handing the circle over to the RA, she called in Replicar for flopping stuff everywhere. Did anyone see him flopping?? Not I said the scribe / On Sec. Good timing to hand over to Megawatt to do his bit as the stand-in RA and his first comment was about the cricket getting washed out over east. Then he called in Meladjusted to ask who is the boss in his house with Radar? We quickly moved on before WWIII erupted just as a police squad car slowly rolled past to see what the local geriatrics society was up to. Thankfully they rolled on by after seeing D Liva Rants and must've thought that all was well. Mental Disorder was next in to tell us all about his aftershave lotion and where he splashed it. Then things started to go downhill fast as he roped in the GM asking where she shaved and splashed her after shave lotion...

Next in was Wenchy & Bell Boy for getting lost but then found the trail (so not really lost?). There were then comments about reverse farrows by the GM's son which resulted in Big Bang being brought in to stand-in for dyslexic trail markers...

Charges followed with Meladjusted calling in the GM re Lost & Found umbrella & raincoat from last week with GPS having lost his beer cooler and Mental Disorder with another lost umbrella. This was better than a British Railway station... Buttered Buns called in Bag Lady for trying to discreetly use a post to lean up against. Replicar claimed that Megawatt had lost his car. Tightarse called in the On Sec (Gadget) for missing out on reporting about Wisie & Spackle from last weeks rag. Mia Culpa said Gadget and took his Down Down.

Zero Hero's – Back to normal and just one hasher called in by the name of Tightarse with 520 runs to his credit and another Down Down for his trouble.

Birthdays – Nada, but Tightarse was rather chuffed to report that he and Mountain Hawk had just celebrated their 49th wedding anniversary.

Under General Business, the On Sec made an announcement as the about to become next GM, that his new Hash Committee was short of a new Hash Splash. He thanked Meladjusted for his excellent work this year, but as he would be standing down, a new Splash would be needed. He had tried talking with several possible candidates, but none were able to commit to looking after the job. Now, before I go on, it must be said that the Splash does not need to tow the trailer everywhere every week, but would ideally need a station wagon or SUV to carry three cool boxes and a flat pack table or two. This was put to the circle and thru the means of the Rag, to the rest of FH3, that if a replacement Splash could not be found, that it could end up with the Hash being asked to bring their own liquid refreshment each week. You are being asked for a volunteer to step forward. It was suggested that perhaps we could look at the Splash role being split up between (say) three people who would look after a different aspect by one person looking after the wine, another looking after the beer and another looking after water/soft drinks, etc. Other suggestions can be considered. At the end of the day, your next GM (me) is happy to consider all suggestions to avoid you having to bring your own grog. Which at the end of the day does bring in an amount of revenue to the Hash that would otherwise go missing and might have to be reviewed in another way. But let's see if there is someone out there who is prepared to take on the role of being Hash Splash, or are we left to declare that each person will need to bring their own grog??? We need to resolve this quite quickly as the AGPU is on the 25th November and the new Hash Year starts the following week.

Talking of the AGPU, could everyone going to attend, please get their names to Hash Cash / Radar ASAP as we need to commit to the caterers with numbers attending for the meal. Thank you.

Lastly, the Splash Trailer needs a new home. Does anyone out there have a safe parking space where the trailer can be parked please? Ideally covered, but not a requirement.

The weeks Jokers were Cookie & Wenchy who both picked on the Oirish in one way or another

The Dummy Shorts started off being worn by Rock Bottom. Nominees were for them to go to Megawatt for loosing his car and Mental Disorder and his pooch. The winner was a clear shout to Mental who claimed he would be travelling. He was told that they would be waiting for his return.

The Meal for the night was a bowl of mince with additives that was very tasty and supplied by D Liva Rants, thank you.

The Circle was closed by High Beam leading us all in the FH3 Hash Hymn.
