RUN: 1654-

Date: 14th April 2023

Hare: Soixante Muff

Venue: Myaree

5.92 Km

25 Friday hashes turned out for what looked to be a wet soggy night. It was pouring down in sheets when we arrived at Soixante Muffs place in Myaree. Wet weather gear was the order of the day for several hashers. 7pm and the GM called order and Soixante Muff gave us the low down. Namely don't expect to see any farrows as they had all been washed away. So, it was a case of fingers crossed and off we set. Hogshit had been given a map, but as he is a runner the walkers were left to fathom it out or ask GPS. I think it's fair to say GPS won the day. A few short cutters lead the way, and it was on on home.

Miraculously we didn't get wet!

Runners Report

Replicar was asked to report for the runners. He marked it a pretty good or even better run with or without farrows. A case of the blind leading the blind.

Walkers Report

Wenchy reported for the walkers. She loved it and said it was a great trail and that GPS had worked hard tonight.

Visitors and LTNS

Ass A Bout was a very long long time no see. Cookie and Sir Fumbles were shorter LTNS.

Charges

Replicar charged the RA as he was brandishing a damaged little finger. Of course, the RA wasn't game to say how it got that way. Several suggestions were vigorously denied, perhaps to vigorously! Anyway, the chosen song says it all. Something about Orangutans, Wallabies and Bestiality.

Mel Adjusted charged the RA with being a Dockers Fan and having to watch the end of game along with accomplices Slugger and Cookie.

RA charged Ballwrinkle for being a Dockers fan who chose not to join Mel Adjusted and clan.

RA charged Cookie for not seeing Kangaroos on Kangaroo Island. However, Cookie denied it and said she did in fact see a lot and then some more Kangaroos on said island. The charge has reversed.

RA was in top form tonight and charged Troppo with having a skinned knee, Troppo called out the RA for having a stiffy in the circle so they both drowned their sorrows in a down down.

Megawatt charged Ballwrinkle for ringing the bell but not buying everyone a drink. Ballwrinkle said in his defence he was doing a Tightarse.

Accolades

The GM gave our beloved RA the highest accolade ever, for his performance tonight. The rain stopped just before seven and hey we didn't see any more rain for the rest of hash.

ZERO HEROES

Tonight, no zero heroes to be seen. That might be a tall story, but I am sticking with it.

Birthdays

Good on Radar for breaking the drought on birthdays. Thank you for the yummy Radar short bread we all love. See what you're missing out on Dead Squid. If you ask her nicely, she might pass on her famous recipe to Michelle.

Jokers

Mental Disorder told one about his girlfriend's dog dying, so he bought her another one identical to the first and then didn't know what to do with 2 dead dogs.

Mel Adjusted asked what is the difference between hanging a picture and Jesus the punchline was wait for it "it only takes 1 nail to hang a picture".

Troppo told one about a wife nagging her husband about Flamingos and Monkeys, he didn't believe her until he saw her face now, he's a believer!

Cookie told one about an Arab needing some rare blood and getting a transfusion from Scotsman Hardcase. Hardcase was rewarded with a car, cash, and a diamond for Dynamo. He was rapt when the Arab needed a 2nd transfusion which he happily gave. The Arab sent a thank you card he bought from the $2.00 shop. Hardcase wasn't too happy about this and called the Arab asking what the issue was. The Arab was quick to tell him he now had Scottish blood running through his veins!

We were all left smiling.

Dummy Shorts

HopPing Mad has apparently done a runner with the shorts as still no sign of them.
