RUN: 1739 Date: 13/12/ 2024 - Hare: Big Bang - Venue: Wembley Downs

It was Friday the Thirteenth. The pack gathered in cooler, balmy weather, no sea breeze to speak of at Butler Reserve. The 39 Hashers were full of spunk having embraced the Black Friday Cat theme proposed by the hare, Big Bang. He arrived wearing a Friday Hash shirt; changed into a Navy-blue Galapagos Island shirt? Stating it looks black after dark... as for run instructions. The black clad, cat costumed and face painted pack found it hard to keep quiet or be still as they tried hard to pay attention to the longest discourse ever. Follow the chalk farrows, runners look for flour marks in the park, everyone be aware of two chains, be prepared for a big surprise. Oh, there will be a drink stop. Chalk, chains and two trails sums it up!

It was a very well-set trail. No chance to get lost. The walkers went off at a good pace. Short false trails kept them together, going up, sideways and up the hills. The longest hill, and most illuminated hill in Wembley Downs had us all amazed. The Christmas lights raised the nearby neighbourhoods bar for Xmas decos (and electricity consumption). The street must have been out to win a prize for creativity without a single Nativity scene. So much for Jesus is the reason for the season. It was wonderful. There was something for everyone, even Sherbie. There was a German Shepherd in a Santa Claus suit on his front porch.

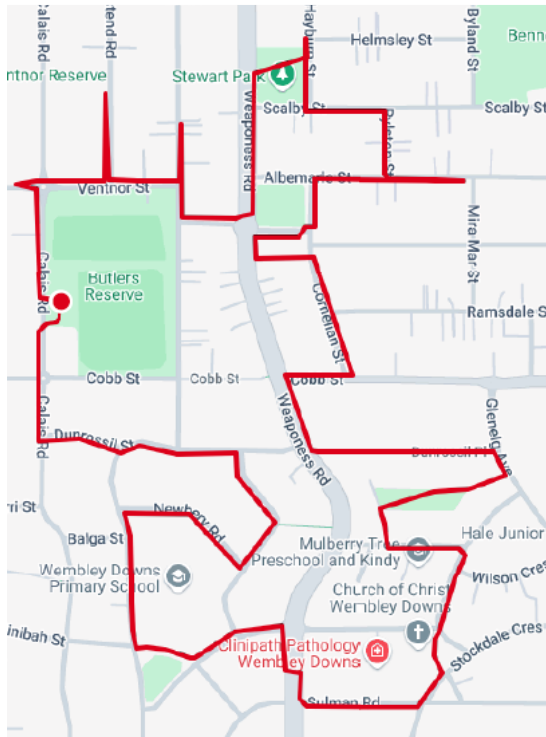

Big Bang did a great job with the drinks stop. Thanks to the assistance of Shadow there was a variety of liquid refreshments on hand plus loads of nibbles. The rehydrated and carbo-loaded pack arrived on home together. Gathering for another magnificent Mega Circle followed by beef rendang curry and rice. It was so tasty hashers were getting in for seconds before some filled their plates for firsts!
Great effort, good time for all!

Runners Report

Puki Merah (Indonesian name) – It was lovely territory for a run. I ran all of ten minutes of it! I walked my way home to the beer. It was a good effort by the hare. Even after a four-year long hiatus from Friday Hash he still remembered how to score the trail giving it an 8 out of 10.

Walkers Report

The GM called upon D Liva Rants to report on the Walkers. She stated it was lovely walk with lots of chitchatting. The magical lighting of the longest street looked like space invaders had come for a visit, made the uphill effort worthwhile. Her score was 10 out of 10.

The run was 6.2 km

Charges from the Floor

The stand in RA, came dressed as a witch. Shifty began, informing us no one in the circle stood a chance against the three foreigners who were charged with running the Circle. The witch from Germany (where everything is done with precision, except costumes) the GM from Brazil and a Yank!

Sweet Dreams was called out for assuming that the gathering of women, plus Inspector Gadget trying on shirts were paying for their run, since money was seen changing hands. OOPS! Haberdashery Mistress Slugger does not collect run money on behalf of her husband.

Shadow was charged for sitting in the Circle. It appears assisting at the drink stop wore out the newest of her bespoke new knees. She did a can-can kick out to accept her drink.

D.I.Y. was in double trouble! Firstly, she did not read her rag missing the brief about wearing Black Friday/Cat attire. D.I.Y. was totally clothed in multicoloured Hash gear.

If that was not enough to earn a cursed drink, paying for her run into the drinks box certainly was. A two-fisted drinker this gal!

On that same note, the RA chastised Inspector Gadget for not adhering to the night's theme. Replied he did not give a fuck about the theme and could not be bothered.

Hopping Mad was given a lecture on how to sign the Friday Run book. Chinese was not acceptable.

The RA noticed Replicar being upset with Troppo going shirtless? topless? It seems Replicar was made to feel inadequate by such a show of manly physique.

Troppo then charged Replicar for signing the book upside down. The signature looked Japanese! Happy guzzling by the pair!

Skippy was charged twice. Firstly, for numerous changes of clothes prior to the run. settling on a long T-shirt printed with a lady's body in a bikini. The cossie was not even black. Secondly, he was caught slinking back through the dark into the circle. He was trying to be a hero turning off car lights; but he was changing shirts!

D Liva Rants on Mouth Organ for alcohol abuse trying to use red wine as a hair remover?

Skully on Slugger for wanting to or not wanting to see some pussy on the trail. Slugger noted Yo's skirt was up at the back. Not a tidy look. Yo had to have a drink

The Christmas Party and Run

Hostess Radar requested some members to bring salads and desserts. Please contact her (0419 953 827) regarding your contribution / or requirement.

Bullwinkle is going to make pecan pies! Yo is doing an awesome salad.

Fund Matching at the Party

This year the charity chosen is "Back on Track." Mouth Organ explained it is an organisation assisting children with cancer who are at home to keep up with their schooling. During her granddaughter's cancer journey the family found this support invaluable.

For every dollar collected at the Xmas Run, the club will match it.

Mental Disorder gave our Powerball winnings report. $70.00 will be reinvested

Jokers

Horny Flasher's was about a couple winning a trip to Mars, swapping partners to have sex with a local couple.

D Liva Rants about which do humans like best canines or pussy?

Troppo read a very protracted story of the man whose parrot died from eating the rotten horse meat. The horse died after pulling carts of water to put out his burning mansion. The fire was started by a candle at his wife's funeral. She died because the butler killed her with his golf driver. His favourite driver was saved

Dummy Shorts

Nominations

Wet Dreams for being illiterate. She could not get into the dunny because she pushed on the door when the sign clearly states: Pull to open the doors"

She then told D.I Y. you must wait - there is only one dunny.

D.I.Y waits a long time when Troppo peaks in to find a row of empty loos!

D Liva Rants nominates Troppo for having a fixation with the women's toilets:

D.I Y. won. She now has the shorts with the red wine stain.

Points of Hash Etiquette

Please do not put your bottle caps in the cash drinks box. It just makes unnecessary work for the someone that must count the money.

Also, if you a request to assist getting the eskies in or out of the van, hop in and help!

Many hands make the job go quicker and no one should get a back sprain!
