RUN: 1744 - Date: 24/01/2025 - Hare: Lofty – Cohare:- Yo Adrian- Venue: Karrinyup
Runner Numbers: 45

Runner’s Trail Length: 6.5 according to Phantom; Hogshit measured 6.9 kilometres

Walker’s Trail Length: 4.2 according to Dynamo

Runners Report

Phantom was requested to report on the runner’s trail. She stated it was sweet. Sweet until the hills when it was sweat; sweet again on the downhills. It was "really sweet" until it was realised the pack somehow "lost" Bell Boy. Otherwise, a great trail.

Walkers Report

D Liva Rants well, she just loved it! It was difficult for her to speak as she had her tongue stuck in her cheek! What more could she ask for? Hills and hills; dodging cars as she negotiated her way across four lanes of traffic on Karrinyup Road. Sand hills and bush tracks in the humidity with no drink stop! A good run made better by the return of Bell Boy at 8:30.

On Sec 's Comments:

The fair-weather gods have deserted Lofty yet again. The venue (41 Blackdown Way) attracts precipitation; mist last week, sprinkles and showers this Friday. Our RA saved us from a repeat of his Monsoon Madness last winter at Lake Gwellup. I missed the chalk talk delivered under ominous skies as kitchen duties called. Lofty chased after the pack to mark On Home, on the return trail. The rest is hash history! BTY – at the end of the night, just after the last hasher left the premises, the heavens opened for a ten-minute downpour. Great work Mountain Hawk!

The Circle

Megawatt held the crowd's attention. He convened seated on a bar stool high above the pack, in his bespoke mega lit jacket in the wisteria arboretum. He flashed the Ears of Silence to remind the pack to be quiet as Her Highness, Mountain Hawk was taking over the Circle.

The RA had many complaints last week concerning her inability to control the weather. All this week she worked to rid Perth of its oppressive heat and humidity. She got that bit almost right, but her charm to remove moisture from the atmosphere backfired. Friday hashers experienced a spitter spatter of rain while on the trail.

Mountain Hawk began to call various members out into the Circle.in

She called in Phantom as a foundation member and an elder of Friday Hash; White Pointer in because well, he is just "old" They had to sing "Here We Are Again."

For her Trump look alike, only Inspector Gadget with his flowing locks could be "the fuggily one." The Inspector said, "I admit to nothing." He had the awful Scottish hat plonked upon his pate by song mistress, Horny Flasher.

The Moon is in Aquarius. Animule was the representee for all Aquarians as he is an was born under that star sign. All sang "Let the Sun Shine In."

The RA overheard Hopping Mad asking Clockwork Orange "Where is your uniform?" The RA demanded Clocky's presence. Clocky had to don her Dublin Hash paraphernalia. It appeared to be a very versatile stretchy bit of white and black cloth. It could go on her head, or around her neck, or maybe a skirt that covers all the bits...no way it barely made it up one thigh! Her song was "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

Inappropriate footwear was Cookie's charge. Wearing Japanese safety boots (thongs) on a trail was just dangerous! Especially in the sand hills! She might have fallen over in those shoes! As she put on the Bad Girl Hat, Cookie informed us she fell over last week wearing proper shoes. Off we go again singing "The Bad Girl Song."

Bell Boy was out front for a much-needed rehydration drink of splash. Tight Arse commented he went out on the trail as a Bell Boy and came back a Bell Man! "If You're Happy and You Know It" was his song.

Charges from the floor:

Shadow on GPS. GPS could not do the run because he pulled a muscle. GPS commented that he cannot ever get any; he can pull a muscle but not pull a woman. Bad luck for the man who played the role of hash pimp in skit....

Inspector Gadget charged Horny Flasher for racing! They arrived at #41 at the same time. Horny Flasher was out of her car and off in a flash down the street in pursuit of her big black sombrero. He had never seen her run so fast. HF had to wear her sombrero as she sang "I Like the Vino"

Note: The EARS have been spotted on Clockwork Orange.

Replicar came out to report that the rain came down adding to his enjoyment of the trail. He was not involved in any sacrifices this week.

Tight Arse had a feeling of deja vu. He asked Bell Boy if he felt the same? Much confusion about seeing your shadow, and "Groundhog" Hogshit got a drink. Lofty missed out as he was in the kitchen. Time for the BS Song!

Mountain Hawk reminded us that this Sunday was a very important day. It was the day our country was founded by the Europeans. Look how far we have come! "Waltzing Matilda."

Shadow queried when was Abo Day? Every day is Aboriginal Day in Australia!

The Ears have been passed on to Hogshit.

General Business

Inspector Gadget held the floor with a humorous rant concerning signing up to hare a trail.

It seems he has gotten some lame excuses. The winner is Roxby. She reneged because it was her daughter's graduation the night of 7 February. She forgot to check her calendar. "She could have set the run by degrees." said Tight Arse.

The Trailmaster's run calendar is full until the end of March.

Megawatt made an important announcement. This Committee is having the first meeting of the minds for this year. 10:00 Saturday 1 February. Any feedback from the members is welcome. Ideas for our Club weekend away? Any rants or complaints or accolades? Just have a chat to one of the Committee or send me an email.

Hogshit informed the assembled hashers that Friday Hash has been asked to lay a Saturday trail for the Freo Aussie Nash Hash. The medium and short both need volunteers.

Horny Flasher asked how many of the assembled group were going to Freo Nash Hash? Nine. She asked if the club would be interested in doing a skit? No takers on this night.

Clockwork Orange has those ears on again!

The computer illiterate On Sec Yo Adrian humbly requests if you have any information, fliers from other clubs, a raffle or a Lotto syndicate you are running etc. Info must be in my hand preferably on Friday night; emails no later than Monday morning. I will check my Spam to be sure have not missed anything. Thanking you for your patience with me. Hoping I get Wenchy's Polar Plunge email attached properly...

Birthdays

Animule wears the birthday hat and is greeted with a rousing rendition of "Hashy Birthday"! He brought plenty of cakes. WOW!

Jokers

Troppo takes the piss out of Clockwork Orange's Irish relatives.

Inspector Gadget stated he can read from his phone like Troppo. Another pearler about Crazy Mary in the nursing home speeding about in her electric wheel chair and having to do the breathalyser again. Out with the jokers' hats and the "Jolly Hasher Song."

Dummy Shorts

GPS has returned sporting his favourite article of haberdashery. Clockwork Orange nominated for being Clocky and Bell Boy for getting lost on the "On Home" trail where Lofty wrote "On Home" 10 times!!!to prevent any confusion. The "on home" came back over the first bit of the Walkers out trail. Sybil counted the number of on homes declared there was no way to be confused! After a shout off, Bell Boy declared the winner. He got the shorts and the song!

Song - Light My Fire

Points of Hash Etiquette

- 1. Leave parking for Troppo & Phantom's van closest to the venue. Second spot closest to venue should be saved for Mental Disorder as he struggles; lend him your able-bodied hands to carry his chair and esky; and-maybe even Chico (that lad weighs in at 5+ kilos!)
- 2. Please sign the Big Red Book
