Runner Numbers: 32

Runners Report

Clockwork Orange was called in to report for the runners. She noted the great real estate ; saw a place she really took a fancy to and said an offer will be made forth with. The drink stop was to die for , with a great view and fantastic sunset. She scored the run a resounding 10.9 and made a friend for life with Tightarse.

Walkers Report

High Beam loved the drink stop, she said it was amazing namely because she drank most of the bubbles which was probably why she staggered into the circle. If she scored it, I didn't catch it but judging by the smile on her face I would suggest a score of 10 would be appropriate.

RA's Report

Our lovely sage was full of love, it was St Valentines day after all and gave us the run down on St Valentine a roman saint who died on 14th Feb. Our RA then burst into song with "Love is all you need" the mob was more than happy to join in.

Captain Cook the illustrious Yorkshire man was mentioned as he was murdered on 14th Feb .

Not to be outdone a Scotsman was then mentioned namely Alexander Graham Bell and who better than Hardcase to be his proxy. The tam o Shanter with the illustrious locks was deftly placed on his noggin. I have to say he wears it well (thanks for that one Rod).

For some reason the Irish didn't rate a mention.

Skippy was declared a virgin as he had never been to one of Mountain Hawks runs before.

Slugger was charged with having a creature on the run, namely Zeppy who apparently shat himself when he saw Phantom. I don't think Slugger had given him his meds.

The RA threw in a joke before handing the circle over to the mob.

If you are going to borrow money, always borrow from a Pessimist as they won't expect to get it back.

Charges from the Floor

Cowpat charged Roxby with heading to Slugger and Hogshits place in Hamersley instead of heading straight to Mosman Park and Mountain Hawks run.

White Pointer charged Screwdriver with always being late for Freo's runs but arriving at our hash on time. Obviously, he has his priorities right.

Tightarse charged Mountainhawk. He apparently asked her what was for dinner, and she replied nothing. He answered back but we had nothing last night. That's right Mountainhawk replied I made enough for two nights.

Sybils dulcet tones led us in song with the Friday anthem.
