RUN: 1748 Date: 21/02/25

Hare: Slugger Venue: Hamersley

Runner Numbers: 40

What a fantastic night it was, it rained on our way there, it was cold and windy when we arrived, once we set off jackets were hastily shed. The runners all got lost with the exception of Cowpat who managed to stay on trail. The circle was loud and busy, I couldn't keep up with it all, anyway as Phantom would say read the bloody rag!

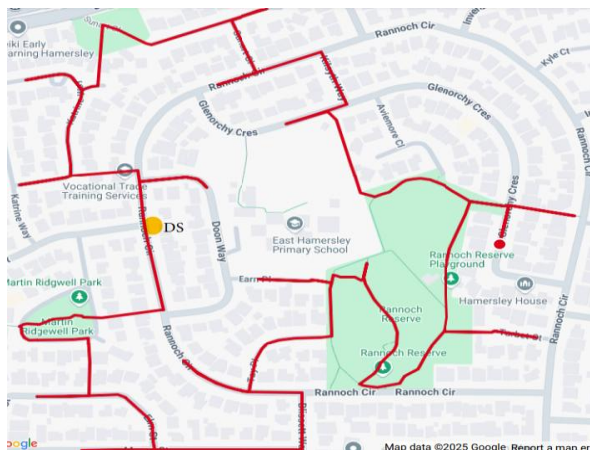

Runners Report

Tightarse was called in for the runners, he said he went out came back went up went down, enjoyed the drink stop and the scenic views.

Walkers Report

Ballwrinkle was called in for the walkers, he basically echoed Tightarse, going on about coming and going and upping and downing. Neither of them managed to get a score in.

So, me myself and I will declare it a score of 10.

RA's Report

Who knew that today was International Mother Language Day, well certainly not me but our esteemed Druid did. High Beam, Menstrual, Sybil, Dynamo, Light my Fire, Hardcase, Hopping Mad and Knee High were all called into the circle to make the proclamation in their mother tongue. To the rabble it all sounded Double Dutch, but it did have a nice ring to it.

The RA and Horny burst into song the one about you say Potato and I say Potato.

-Ballwrinkle was called into to discuss Sticky Bun Day, which he had no knowledge of and declared it just another conspiracy theory.

-Cookie was called in because she has Bunions, Buttered bun called in , it was pointed out she isn't sticky, way too much info I thought.

-Big Bang called in for banging on!

-Our RA once again burst into song:

Me no Likee British soldier,
Yankee pay fie dollah more.
Yankee tapping on my window,
Blitish kicking down the door.
Me no likee Blitish soldier,
Yankee pay fie dollah more.
Yankee lay me on the table,
Blitish do it on the floor.
Me no like Blitish soldier,
Yanakee pay fie dollah more.

And that was just part one of the circle,

-Big Bang called out due to him being part of the chain gang!

-Radar charged with showing off her new NZ Hash Apron courtesy of Animule.

Charges from the Floor

-Mental charged Menstrual with losing her mind which she claimed to be a lie.

-Ballwrinkle charged me and High Beam for some travesty, which was hotly defended as I didn't walk with High Beam. Sweet Dreams came in and we both had a DD.

Accolades

-And then there was Tightarse, who not to be outdone by his good lady wife come up with this little bit of light entertainment:

Did you know the GM is a leading light in hash?

He's very intelligent- he's really bright.

That's right! He's really switched on.

Sybil says he is the light of her life.

He is the only hasher who doesn't need a torch on the run.

He's so popular he lights up the circle.

With so much electricity in his body he should be renamed Mega Wattage.

When he went through the security radar the checker thought he had been struck by lightning.

Border Force suspected him of recording their operations, so they frisked him to see if he was wired. He was.

Children lay presents at his feet; they think he's a Christmas Tree.

After Hash Sybil switches him off and he has a blackout.

One time all his lights went out and he didn't know why. He was con-fused.

Tightarse told him he was going to charge him tonight. He replied "good my battery's flat".

The circle thankful he didn't sing it !

Jokers.

There were several jokers tonight, Troppo Gadget and Cookie. By now the pen had run out of ink, carpal tunnel was kicking in and I don't have a clue what the jokes were about. Laughter was loud so they must have been great jokes.
