Warradale Community Centre Car Park, Southmead Dr. Landsdale

The On Sec's Report of the Night

What a surprise! The entire community of Warradale was out on the oval! There were soccer games, cricket balls flying, children of all sorts of ethnicities playing happily together. There was even an AA meeting inside the hall. The downside of all this outpouring of community: zero, zip, none, not any carparks to be found nearby. Even Troppo's van was parked on the verge!

Not to worry. As soon as a space was vacated, FH3 claimed it. Slugger slipped her little car into a spot. She brought a box of FH3 vests over to the van. Yeah hooray! Perfect timing as Lofty and Yo were counting on the vests for warmth tonight. Our haberdasher always delivers!

Next issue: giant white corellas/cockatoos (cockies) settled in the trees above our heads and on the parking lot lights. Bombs away! Hashers dodged the evacuation of their collective bowels. The cockies commenced to converse loudly amongst themselves while performing acrobatic manoeuvres in the trees much to the amusement of our visitor from the UK, Stumbler. Megawatt had to move far away to make himself heard over the ruckus. He called out the Hare, Phantom to give us our instructions for tonight's trail.

Phantom gave us our marching orders! "There is only one trail tonight, so Franger, you and Buldust do not go and bugged it up for the walkers! Just run off by yourselves for your extra exercise! The trail is all marked in chalk farrows." There were plenty of checks and false trails to entertain the mad runners. Phantom mentioned there would be a drink stop! Cheers went up!

The pack was glad to get moving because it was flipping cold! The wind was like ice! Poor Mental Disorder did not bring his coat. It was stinking hot where he lives! He wrapped himself up in his dog's purple towel. Our FH3 fashionista! Amazing, Menstrual Disorder had her FH3 jacket on. They live at the same address!

The trail was indeed well marked. Yo was sweeping with Inspector Gadget since Mel Adjusted chose playing baseball over sauntering with Gadget. I thought we were at the back of the pack. No! Cameltoe came dashing up the street. Unfashionably late but still able to catch up with the pack! Ditto for Kanya returning off a false trail. Kanya catch up Kanya? Yo never knew that hasher was a runner not a walker!

One check at a roundabout caused a big discussion. The checks were rechecked. Could it be Bulldust ran so fast his "bulldust" covered the Farrows? Maybe a sprinkler washed away the brightness of the farrow? D Liva Rants was the hero who found true trail a bit damp and under a bush! High Beam debated whether she should do some pole dancing while waiting at this check. I didn't glean any gossip tonight as Cookie and I were struggling; bringing up the rear under the watchful eyes of Sir Fumbles. Even Gadget was faster tonight! The pack was thrilled by the drink stop of port, port and lemonade, water for the good and pure of heart and loads of sweets!

On Home was not too far away but one had to run the gauntlet of the Shire sprinklers pumping out stinking iron/sulphur water. Knee Hi got caught unawares. She laughed as she was drenched! Megawatt saw what was coming. He pushed Yo out of stinks way and sprinted off! Back On Home to a table full of nibbles and lots of cold beverages. The added benefit was the wind had dropped off!

Back at Home

Megawatt requested for the Circle to begin. Phantom was called out for her drink for her efforts as tonight's hare .

Runner's Report was given by, guess who? Bulldust! It was a twisty trail, full of turns. We managed to lose Franger! We even had some moisture on the trail. Editor's Note: View map for all the twists and turns Bulldust did on his 6.69 KM trail.

Score: None given

Walker's Report was cheerfully done by D Liva Rants as requested by the GM. It was a lovely walk! There was lots of time to talk and walk and talk some more! Definitely, a lovely walk. Cheers.

Score: None given Song: And the Hairs

LTNS: Cameltoe She was having a naughty week with Whatzhisname in Bali.

Visitors: Stumbler, who is part of the Balmy Army from West Dorset. His claim to fame is he makes cider! He also runs Hardy H3 in the UK!

The RA's Circle

Today is a very boring day. In modern history, it is King Charles III's birthday! Bulldust got to be King Charles. Horny Flasher anointed him with a crown. Camilla sang to him. The RA blessed him with a queer weird ditty. King Charles I had his head chopped off! Troppo was chosen to be King Charles I. Horny Flasher produced another crown from her bag of chapeaus. King Charles II had no heirs but he had a lot of mistresses! One of them was Nell Gwyn, who died on November 14, 1687. Slugger, was the stand in for Nell of this song, "There is an old mill by the stream" and as the mistress. So, "Here's to Royalty"!

It is International Children's Day. There was this man who did not know how he "begat his son". Stumbler played this ignorant gentleman and to wear the blue fuzzy hat!

The RA charged Menstrual Disorder because she cannot set her priorities. MD dashed out into the middle of the road to save Chico. She did not look both ways! The red Bad Girl hat was brought out and the "Bad Girl" song sung. MD should also be charged for not having that beast under control on the trail!

The RA charged Franger for being first in from the run and the last to arrive in the Circle! Horny Flasher plonked the spikey black helmet on Franger's stooped head. "This is good for protection from magpies swooping noted Franger. "If You're Happy & You Know It"

Charges From the Floor

Ballwrinkle on Cameltoe: She laughed at me! I pointed out the drink stop ahead to her and she laughed at me because I was dumb. I was standing by a drinking fountain. Cameltoe in her defence, thought that the water fountain was the drink stop. A splendid black sombrero for Cameltoe to wear as she sang, "I like the vino!"

Mental Disorder had a Hash Accolade for High Beam. She loaned Mental a coat! D Liva Rants could not wait to charge Mental for not wearing his hash jacket, the one he wears regardless of the weather! The one D Liva Rants wore her fingers down to the bone sewing all of those bloody badges on!

Replicar on Phantom for marking the "ON HOME" right in front of a chain! Replicar went ass over tit even after Biro warned him! Unscathed, he should be thankful he did not replicate Cowpat's famous tangle/ crash with a chain. She won extensive dental work for her efforts.

General Business

Megawatt again reminded us of the AGPU. Theme is dress as an Asian going to Bali on a holiday. Radar needs your RSVP - if you are coming for catering. Thank you.

Mental Disorder spruiked our fabulous Lotto/Powerball $20.00 win. Menstrual Disorder bought the ticket. When Mental bought our ticket, we won $80.00. He will reinvest our $20.00.

Trailmaster: Inspector Gadget had another litter of kittens, this time right in the middle of the Circle! He was in a right proper panic. There is no Hare for December 19! Gadget believed the calendar to be full of Hares into next year! There was no Hare listed in the rag for December 19! It is the Christmas Run! "No, it could not be". he swore! "Oh, yes it could" said the On Sec. It is a catered Committee Run! "Well, I'm In the Committee No body told me!" grumbled the miffed Inspector.

There you have it. Save the date in your diary. It is a Christmas theme. Cost: $4.00 for members & $20.00 for visitors. Remember to bring extra $s for the yet to be determined charity. Suggestions for the charity are welcome and requested by your in coming new GM. P.S. There is a spa and a pool available.

Birthdays: None

Jokers

Gadget told another of his Little Johnny school jokes. It seems that vibrator is a legitimate word ending in “tor” According to Little Johnny’s mother, “It eats batteries like no tomorrow.”

Cookie told us the tale of the Arab sheik in need of blood donors for his upcoming operation. A match was eventually found, in Scotland. The Scot was finally convinced to donate. The sheik showered him with expensive gifts, even a diamond bracelet for his wife. So, when the sheik needed a second operation, the Scot jumped at the chance to donate. A thank you card arrived with a box of chocolates. Upset, the Scot called the sheik. Why this time I donate I only receive a thank you card and a box of chocolates? “Well,” says the sheik, “Now I’ve got Scottish blood.”

Troppo is already into his Christmas crackers. The jokes are popping out!

“Here’s to the jolly hashers” sang the three jokers with their jolly joker’s hats on!
