The Run

A good evening for a Hash Run, most definitely dry and not too cold as 32 Friday Hashers turned out. Ding and Biro are both wandering the planet somewhere, consequently you have to suffer with Inspector Gadget as your stand-in On Sec and scribe. The run site wasn't as busy as Hard Case was expecting, so at the last minute there was some fine tuning as to where to park the cars and have the circle, which turned out to be right in front of the Pleasure Centre where we quickly set up camp. As usual, our GM Horny Flasher checked her time piece and called Circle Up just prior to 7pm to get everyone assembled and prepared to get this weeks Hash Run underway. There was a mighty rouse of approval when it was announced that there would be a Drink Stop and that there was a split trail for the Runners to get their exercise kick. The front runners were asked to ensure that they marked the trail accordingly.

Runners Report

Horny Flasher got the Circle under way asking Clockwork Orange to report on the Runners Run. Some bright spark requested that she give her report in Gaelic, or was that Garlic?? Her report included the word Lovely, which at the last count was used at least four times. She commented on the ups and downs, which naturally follow each other. She said that she enjoyed trail, though Megawatt made some comment about an assassination attempt....!!! On who by whom is the question?? She gave the run a rating of 9.85

Walkers Report

Mouth Organ was asked to comment on the Walkers Run. Her comment also included the word Lovely. Seems to be the word of the night... She thought that the run had a bit of everything and was particularly impressed with the Drink Stop, all in all a good run scoring the Run as 9.9

Down Down to "The hairs of her dicky dido..."

LTNS

On In Mental Disorder and Menstrual Disorder who finally found their way home after touring the great Aussie Outback far and wide. Big Bang was also there along with Clockwork Orange after a brief period of being AWOL.

Down Down to "Here's to the Long Timers"

Zero Heros

No double zeros this week, but a few with a single zero were called in consisting of Troppo (1550); Tightarse (650); Dynamo (190) & Zippy (90).

Down Down to "Get a Life"

Book Ends

Just a couple of Book Ends this week were Radar (616) and Hard Case (191).

Down Down to "Here's to the book ends"

Charges

Sheep Shunter took over the Circle with shouts from the outer circle of cold but dry, which I guess was a positive outcome to the weather for the night and in my opinion, it wasn't too cold at all. The RA's first call was to bring Troppo in for it being a full moon, or was it just an over bright street light? Either way, Troppo was given a drink on account of his parking which resulted in the RA not being able to find a nice spot...

Down Down to "In heaven there is no beer"

Next in was Tightarse who the RA felt was getting confused as to whether he's a Civil Engineer or a Song Writer with mention of the recently passed away British actor Tim Curry. Down Down to "I like my vino"

Mel Adjusted was next into the Circle with the RA claiming that his walking stick was a fraud! Mel Adjusted looked to Gadget for support, but he was too busy writing up the Rag Report... Down Down to "Tied to the shithouse"

Fortunately, the GM can do nothing wrong, so I won't mention anything about her mobile phone going off twice...

The RA gave us another rendition of a Limerick that was something to do with a young lady and a bag of cement... Me thinks that the RA needs to practice his Limericks before coming to the Hash... The RA got support from both Mountain Hawk & Tightarse who gave us a couple of their Limericks, though Tightarse got into trouble when he forgot the words to a Limerick that he wrote about Dead Squid... Both got a Down Down for their valiant efforts.

It seemed that the RA was looking for a couple of POMS but why I don't know? Then he called in some of the ladies who are Red Wine drinkers, on in Buttered Buns; Radar & High Beam who all got a drink to the Down Down song.

Last one in was Bulldust for some infractions on the run with regards to the Walkers and Runners trails. Down Down to "He's stupid".

Charges from the Floor

Mel Adjusted against Hardcase for forgetting Dynamo's Hash Name and calling her by something that only her mother knows. Down Down to "What a wank"

RA against Ballwrinkle for renaming Lake Ontario. Down Down to "He outta be publicly pissed on"

Mel Adjusted found an Honorary Cannuck, but who it was I can't recall and I didn't write it down... Down Down to "He's got a little prick".

Last one was Mountain Hawk who claimed that there were some racists in the club (humorous twist). On in Slugger and one other for a Down Down.

General Business

Mel Adjusted announced that at the recent Committee Meeting it was discussed that the costs of drinks had risen a bit and that it had been a while since the sale price of drinks had last been increased and that it was now time for a review. Consequently, with immediate effect, beer has been increased by $1 to $4 can. And soft drinks have gone from $1 to $2. At this point wine remains as is, but we reserve the right to review this if necessary and we will switch from large bottles to smaller bottles to cut back on wastage.

Close To Your Heart Donations are going well, but we still need more to come in, so please make every effort to donate from home and find outside sponsors. Gadget is now accepting cash payments on Fridays for those from FH3 who wish to register their attendance and save $5 if you pay on the night ($20 verses $25).

The Friday Hash Weekend Away on the weekend of 31st October now has 16 members going. Speak with Horny Flasher if you would like to join in.

Perth Harriets 2500th Run: Saturday 19th September 2026 at the Perth Tatts Club. See the flier if you want to go and haven't yet booked your attendance.

Dummy Shorts

Fumbles was looking for a new owner and there was a suggestion that Troppo be considered for his parking technique, or Bulldust for his getting the trails mixed up, or as always, the opportunity for a carry over. But the Circle was quite clear as to where the Dummy Shorts were going, and Bulldust it was. He gets them and was given a Down Down to "He's stupid"

Jokers

Jokers for the week were Cookie – She told us about a welfare officer with 16 kids all called Terry. Mel Adjusted told us about Tarzan and Disney. Gadget told us about a little girl buying a bunny wabbit for her pet snake... And Troppo told us that he had replaced his wife's lipstick with a glue stick... They each shared the usual Hash Down Down Joke Song.
