RUN: 1834 Date: 6 November 2026
Hare: Tightarse Venue: Fremantle

The Run

The run was in trouble before it even started. Tightarse hadn't realised that he'd picked a carpark that wasn't free parking until the last minute. All attempts to find or come up with a last-minute alternative drew blanks. So, pay it was amid grumbles from certain Hashers who could afford the few dollars claiming that it wasn't the principle, it was the money… My God how the money rolls in goes a certain song. Well, the Fremantle Council have to recoup the money from somewhere having gone from a budgeted cost of $230M to a final figure of $596M despite the fact that the original design included the railway line, which was then taken away. But hey, they finished ahead of time just to squeeze in Tightarse's Birthday Run… At least there was plenty of parking bays and a grass area to the side for the circle.

It took several minutes for our GM Horny Flasher to gather everyone together to hear the Hares run directions (those chatterboxes just don't know when to give it a rest…). It certainly wasn't a Bridge Too Far as we were all but underneath it.

Tightarse explained that there was a Walkers Trail and a Runners Trail forming a figure eight (not easy to do in most places, but this wasn't most places). The good news was that there was a Drink Stop which was well received and we were off and running, so to speak.

Runners Report

Horny Flasher called to get the Circle under way, but just like the start of the run, it was like pulling teeth to get everyone to gather around and shut the fook up. The On Sec (Ding) was AWOL leaving Inspector Gadget to step in after taking everyone's money, well he'd returned from a week off, that'll teach him! Talking about being AWOL, our erstwhile RA (Sheep Shunter) has gone off to attend the Mekong Hash And had told the GM that he had arranged for a Standin RA, but she didn't know who it was and it was only as the Circle was being formed that Tightarse stepped forward and said Guess What? He's the stand-in RA!!! So not only was he the Hare for the night, but he was also the RA and thinking that left him clear of any negative comments… Not quite so…

Clockwork Orange was asked to report on the Runners Run. She said that the figure eight lost Bell Boy but that it was a really nice run. She gave the run a rating of 9.9

Walkers Report

Ball Wrinkle was asked to comment on the Walkers Run. He said that it was a fantastic run and that he liked the bridge, a good run scoring the Run as 9.9999

Visitors On in Voodoo (Hamersley H3) and his offsider Mrs Voodoo. They were joined by Screwy & Buttless who really are more appropriately LTNS's, but they claimed that we were running in their patch of the woods…

LTNS

On In Cowpat and Roxby (always good to see you both) who were given a DD as a welcome back drink.

Zero Heros

Whoops, as Gadget stepped in at short notice, he hadn't prepared a list of Zero Heros or Book Ends for the GM to work with. A Call was made for the Zero Heros to acknowledge their own achievements and step right on into the Circle for a beer DD. Slugger and Shadow stepped into the Circle to be recognised accordingly for having both achieved 720 runs. Missing from the Circle I can now advise that Mouth Organ and Sybil were both being more than a little shy with 350 & 740 runs respectively. Plus Troppo with 1560. A beer will be coming your way next week…

Book Ends

Clockwork Orange stepped in to acknowledge her 77 runs. Missing from the Circle was Tightarse (656); Radar (626); Roxby (88) & Tampax (11)

RA

The Stand-In RA (Tightarse) stepped in and took over the Circle having done his homework re what had happened on this day many years ago. Turns out that two Popes said their final prayers on this very day many years ago. Who were they? Buggered if I know, you'll have to do your own Google search. For some inexplicable reason it was deemed that Screwy looked like a Pope! (I hope he said his prayers last night…).

On this day in history, two U.S. Presidents were selected. Lincoln and Reagan. And it was Reagan who said that the nine most terrifying words were – I'm from the government and I'm here to help you… (Gadget comment – In my book that's ten words…).

At this point Voodoo stepped in and sang a song by the title of Do Do claiming that it was an original by Tightarse.. Keep your day jobs gentlemen…

Tightarse took back over with the question of who was born on this day with the clue of Field Day?? Turns out it was the actress, Sally Field. It was also on this day 83 years ago that Tightarse's mother went into labour and on the next day a very young and much different Tightarse was born… Happy Birthday for the 7th November Tightarse (I'm going for the Guinness Book of Records for how many times in a single Hash Sheet the name Tightarse can be typed…).

Limericks

Hogshit stepped in to provide us with a Limerick about Tightarse that went like this:-

There once was a Hasher, Tightarse his name,
Who skipped a pub stop, that was a shame,
He'd stash beer in his socks,
And run with one in his jocks
Then sang in the circle, he was game.

Tightarse not to be outdone produced his own Limerick that went like this:-

We have a Hasher here called Gadget,
Whose life story is truly tragic,
You see he married so many wives,
Who are all still alive,
So, how did he survive?
That's magic.

Charges

The RA called on Ball Wrinkle saying that he must be the happiest man in the circle having the ability to vote referencing the Mid Term elections and Trump. But then referred to Putin and Xi Jinping and Kim Jong Un and all the Muslims who are not allowed to vote (that was it…).

Voodoo charged the Hare (Tightarse) for bringing us all to a Hash Run and to then have to pay for car parking. In reply Tightarse said that it is Free-mantle…

Big Bang called in Screwy for being the local GM.

Birthdays

Our GM called On In to both Tightarse and Megawatt so that the Circle called sing the Hashy Birthday song to them both. And another Down Down was presented to both. Did I forget to previously mention all the other Down Downs? Tightarse was a major recipient, and he was now declaring that Mountain Hawk will have to drive home. Tightarse didn't miss a beat having the Circle once more and regaled us with another of his re-written birthday songs, this time to the Frank Sinatra song "Three Coins in a Fountain". Troppo wasn't so sure about the tune asking for clarity as to what it was…? A birthday cake was later presented for all to enjoy made by High Beam.

Jokers

Joker's for the week were Mel Adjusted; Troppo (of course) & Mountain Hawk who got my vote for the best joke of the night about a one-armed man who allowed his empty jacket sleeve to drop into a mans beer sitting next to him declaring that it was armless… Bum Bum.

General Business

Horny Flasher reminded us of upcoming special runs specifically mentioning our AGPU on 27th November; the Hamersley 2500th Run and a Harriettes Run, all previously mentioned in prior FH3 Rags. And the FH3 XMAS RUN this year will be hosted by Megawatt & Sybil at their residence on the 18th December.

ALL COMMITTEE MEMBERS please note that there will be an important Committee Meeting to be held at the GM's residence on Sunday 15th November at 10:30am.

Dummy Shorts

Inspector Gadget was wearing the Dummy Shorts when the GM asked for any nominations. The Circle fell quiet until Gadget stepped forward and suggested Tampax for his acrobatics as the Circle was being formed and Tightarse for the parking dilemma. The GM put it to the vote which included Gadget as a Carry Over. And the winner was, Tightarse…

That just left us to close the Circle with the Hash Hymn led by Buttered Buns

The Meal for the night was prepared and cooked by Mountain Hawk consisting of a very enjoyable curry and rice. Thank you Mountain Hawk.
